James,

Good stuff!

My only comments include:

- 1) some typos in some of the reports (which I assume will be corrected); and
- 2) the lack of an adequate explanation about the obvious differences between cyanotoxin problems INSIDE of Utah Lake boat harbors versus the obvious lack of "demonstrated" problems outside of them, and the obvious reasons why the difference exists between the two VERY distinct conditions (protected versus unprotected areas)

relative to the effects of wind disturbance, and the obvious influence of resulting turbidity in open water on algae production of any kind; and finally

- 3) the lack of an adequate explanation about the relationship between thunderstorm rain events and their influence on resulting low DO problems in the lower Jordan R.
